

Japanese Language and Culture Assistants

Japanese Language and Culture Assistants are looking to volunteer in Australian Schools.

Links to the General Capability of Intercultural Understanding, the CCP of Asia and Australia's Engagement with Asia and your Japanese Language Program.

Lattitude is a non-for-profit organisation and has been around for 40 years supporting young people to have a volunteer experience in 13 countries. We have young people from Japan who are training to be teachers or are new graduates wanting an experience in an Australian School. The volunteer's aim is to teach young Australians about contemporary and historical Japan, its language, culture, belief systems and daily life.

Practicalities What Lattitude organises: In depth candidate interviews and placement matching processes with our Japan Manager, pre-departure support, a clear Volunteer Code of Conduct, placement visits in Australia, 24/7 emergency support, appropriate visas, post support for the volunteer on return.

Your school's contribution: Food and lodging and some pocket money.

Placement time: Negotiable– School Year 2015

Lattitude's vision:

A world where all young people contribute to a more dynamic, caring and tolerant society as responsible global citizens.

"Teaching...has been such an amazing and rewarding experience. The best part has been seeing the change in the students since I arrived...Realizing how much of an impact I've had is a huge reward that I don't think will ever leave me" Ben Buxton Volunteer.

For more information, contact our Program Development Manager (ASIA)

cleong@lattitude.org.au

+61 (0)422413693 www.lattitude.org.au